

Resume

James Klurfeld
1 Carriage Court
Stony Brook N.Y. 11790

Room N4013
Frank Melville Jr. Memorial Library
Stony Brook N.Y. 11794-3384
631 632 7562
James.klurfeld@stonybrook.edu

Work History: Academic

2007- Current: - Visiting Professor of Journalism

2007- 2008: Interim Director, Center for News Literacy

2008 – Current: Summer High School Teachers’ Program in News Literacy, Stony Brook University and at Northwestern University.

Courses through Summer of 2013:

Summer I 2013

JRN 101B/103G News Literacy
CEG 560: News Literacy for High School Teachers

Spring 2013

JRN101B/103G News Literacy
JRN 340 Beat Reporting
JRN 390 Opinion Journalism
JRN 288 Advising students on campus Internships
JRN 488 Advising students on off campus internships

Fall 2012

JRN101B/103G News Literacy
JRN 340 Beat Reporting
JRN 390 The Press and Presidential Campaign
JRN 391 Workshop in election night coverage (1 credit course).
JRN 288 Advising students on campus Internships

JRN 488 Advising students on off campus internships

Summer 1 2012

JRN 101B/103G News Literacy

CEG 560: News Literacy for High School Teachers

Work shop @Northwestern U. in News Literacy for high school teachers

Spring 2012

JRN/101B/103G News Literacy

JRN 340 Beat Reporting

JRN/390: The Press and the Presidential Campaign

JRN 288 Advising students on Campus Internships

JRN 488 Advising students on off campus internships

Fall 2011

JRN 101B/103G: News Literacy

JRN 340: Beat Reporting

JRN 587 Independent Study

Summer 1 2011

JRN101B/103G News Literacy

Workshop in News Literacy for High School teachers

Spring 2011

JRN 101/B103G: News Literacy

JRN 340: Beat Reporting

JRN 390/PolSci 390: The Press and the Presidency

JRN 488: Advising Summer Interns

Fall 2010

JRN 101B/103G News Literacy

JRN 340 Beat Reporting

JRN 288 advising interns

Summer 1 2010

JRN101B/103G News Literacy

Workshop Seminar in News Literacy for 33 high school and college teachers from 8 states, NYC and Long Island. Two qualified for graduate credit as part of the SPD program.

Spring 2010 Courses taught:

JRN 101/B103G: News Literacy

JRN 340: Beat Reporting

JRN 390/PolSci 390: The Press and the Presidency

Fall 2009 Courses taught:

JRN 101B/103G: News Literacy

JRN 340: Beat Reporting: Government

Summer 1 2009 first session:

JRN 101B/103G: News Literacy

Two week workshop in News Literacy for High School teachers: Taught 26 high school and junior college teachers from six states.

Spring 2009:

JRN 101B/103G News Literacy

JRN 331: Beat Reporting

Fall 2008:

JRN 101B/103G News Literacy, two lecture sections, one recitation

JRN/POL 390 The Press and Presidential Campaigns

Summer 1 2008:

JRN101B/103G News Literacy

Five week seminar in News Literacy for teachers from Long Island high schools.

Spring 2008: Visiting Professor and Interim Director of the Center for News Literacy. Courses taught:

JRN 101B/103G News Literacy

JRN/POL 390: The Press and Presidential Campaigns

Fall 2007: Visiting Professor of Journalism at Stony Brook University and Interim Director of the Center for News Literacy.

Courses taught:

JRN 101B/103G New Literacy

Summer 2007: helped create curriculum for News Literacy as a Lecture/recitation course.

Fall 2006: Adjunct professor at Stony Brook University

Course taught:

JRN 101: News Literacy

2005-2006: Adjunct Professor at Hofstra University taught honors level course in American Foreign Policy with Prof. Bernard Firestone, Dean of Liberal Arts College

1988-1993: Lecturer in Current Events at Long Island University Hutton House Series for adult education

Work History: Journalism

November 2007- December 2008: Weekly columnist, Newsday, writing on political, national security and local politics.

December 1987 – October 2007: Vice-president and Editor of the Editorial Pages of Newsday.

Responsible for all opinion stories and editorials in Newsday

January 1990- December 2008: Wrote weekly column for Newsday on national security, foreign affairs, national and local politics. Distributed through Washington Post/Los Angeles Times News Service.

June 1981- August of 1986: Washington Bureau Chief Newsday. Built bureau from seven to 14 reporters, covered national security news and presidential campaigns.

January 1977 – June 1981 National Security correspondent for Newsday in Washington Bureau.

December 1973 –December 1976: Albany Bureau Chief, Newsday.

September 1968 – November 1973: Reporter, Newsday covering local politics and government; member of Pulitzer Prize winning investigative team 1969-1970.

Summer 1968: Co publisher and editor of Poor Howard's Wednesday Afternoon Post, weekly newspaper covering Cape Cod.

September 1967 – June 1968: junior high school English teacher, New York City school system.

November 1995—December 2007: Television Show on WLNY-TV. "The Cutting Edge" organizer and regular panelist

Other media appearances: regular guest on Ch. 21 PBS weekly Crosson and Wells , Face Off and appearances on national talk shows.

Awards:

- Pulitzer Prize 1970, member of Newsday team that won Pulitzer Prize for Public Service
- New York State Publishers Awards 1970 for investigate reports as part of Newsday team
- Deadline Club 1970 award for investigative journalism
- Sigma Delta Chi 1982 award for outstanding reporting for series on the permanent government in Washington
- American Society of Newspaper Editors 1988 Distinguished Writing Award for series of editorials on the Iran-contra affair.

Education:

1967: Syracuse University B.S. in political science.

Conferences and seminars:

- Helped organize and moderate Humanities Institute Parliamentary Debate Program on Public Policy after major storm Sandy.
- Sept. 29, 2012: moderate panel on campaign coverage for New York Press Club at NYU. topic "Is this any way to cover an election?"
- Oct. 15, 2012: panelist at Long Island Social Study Teachers' annual meeting on the presidential campaign.
- Nov. 1, 2012: Helped organize and moderate Humanities Institute Parliamentary Debate Program on future of Electoral College.

- May 5, 2011: Help organize Humanities Institute Parliamentary Debate Program Population bomb Threat or Myth.
- Nov. 3, 2011: Moderated and coordinated Humanities Institute Parliamentary Debate Program on future of nuclear power.
- Fall and Spring semester 2009--2010: moderate and help coordinate panels for Humanities Institute Parliamentary Debate program
- Oct. 16 2008: Organized and chaired graduate colloquia on the Presidential Campaign.
- March 26: Participant in Stony Brook symposium on Long Island politics.
- April 30: Participant in Hofstra symposium on first 100 days of Barack Obama's presidency.
- September 18: Moderator Stony Brook Symposium "Remembering Robert Moses"

Memberships:

- Council on Foreign Relations, NYC
- The Gridiron Club, Washington D.C.
- Co-founder and organizer Long Island Foreign Affairs Forum
- Carnegie Council for Ethics in International Affairs, Foreign Policy Roundtable.